

Princess for a day

The perfect dress for the wedding

It goes without saying that a bride wants to feel beautiful and unique on her wedding day. Choosing the perfect wedding dress is therefore one of the most important steps during the preparation for the big day. Naturally there are designers in Luxembourg who can provide the made-to-measure dress of your dreams. Nathalie Siebenaler creates unique printed wedding dresses under the trademark "by Siebenaler" using a modern combination of drawing, painting, and photography.

By Siebenaler

The professional dressmaker works with fabrics characterised by a combination of artistic and design elements. Her aim is to make impressions, drawings, paintings and photography wearable with her fine scarves and stunning bridal dresses.

Siebenaler completed her studies by creating a collection of mainly printed dresses. Two years later she received her master craftsman's certificate and launched her first collection of fine scarves. She gained valuable experience during her years abroad, working as a designer, stylist, and dressmaker for various companies. Her first printed bridal collection "Pure Motion" was launched in 2015, characterised by a modern mix of hand-dyed and photographic prints.

In addition to scarves and wedding dresses, Siebenaler also offers a customisation service for brides who are looking for something very special and extraordinary. The bride's personality is integrated into the dress through watercolour drawings and photographic prints.

The fabrics, lace and embroidery for Siebenaler's creations are purchased in France, Italy and Great Britain, are printed in Great Britain, and then manufactured in Luxembourg. The design is done in Luxembourg and thus the products proudly bear the label "Made in Luxembourg".

More information on www.bysiebenaler.com.

